TEA

IN ENGLAND

Formed in 1334, Tregothnan is a privately held family business in Cornwall and the seat of the Viscount Falmouth. Eight miles from the coast with the deep-sea creek of the Fal Estuary running through it, the estate boasts warm and wet conditions that are perfect for thriving tea plantations. This unique combination of climatic conditions within the UK help produce the most British tea in history. Tregothnan began supplying Britain's first homegrown tea in 2005, and now produce many tonnes a year in a wide variety of blends.
